OPTIONS FOR FINANCING YOUR STUDIES Parents/guardian/religious groups

Your parents or guardian may be able to help you with funding, or their employers may offer students bursaries. Many church groups and other religious organisations offer bursaries to their members.

Bank Loan

Most major banking institutions offer student loans at attractive interest rates. Interest rates may decrease for consecutive years of study. Normally, bank loans cover the duration of study and are repaid once you start working, or once you have graduated. Some banks offer a grace period to students who are completing internships, articles or community service. In most instances, you are required to repay the interest while still studying. Sometimes surety/security is required, which means that a relative, friend or sponsor must guarantee to repay the loan if you fail to do so. Visit your local bank to find out what products they offer students.

Scholarships and bursaries

A number of companies offer bursaries to academically promising students. Bursaries differ considerably in their selection criteria and in what they cover. Some bursaries are very comprehensive and cover tuition fees, accommodation costs, books and travel costs, while others may offer a relatively small financial contribution to your studies. Bursaries cover a range of qualifications or subject choices. There are bursaries for engineers, computer scientists, social workers and health professionals, and may be offered on the basis of financial need, disability status, religious group or academic merit. Most bursaries are renewable on a yearly basis and are dependant on successful completion of the academic year. If you fail your course or decide to drop out, you may be liable for all bursary funds paid out on your behalf.

Some bursaries, such as contract bursaries, require that you work for the bursary company for a set period once you have completed your studies.

For a list of all bursaries, visit:

ttp://bursaries-southafrica.co.za/

Self-funding

Work first to raise funds! As a young person ready to start your life, this may seem a dim prospect but often people who have worked for a few years before commencing their studies really enjoy their studies once they start - so much so that they go on to postgraduate study! Another option is to work part-time while you study. But don't over-extend yourself and fail your courses as a result.

National Student Financial Aid Scheme (NSFAS) For South African Citizens Only

NSFAS, funded by the Government, is financial assistance in the form of a loan. Like a bank loan a NSFAS loan is repayable once you start working. You are expected to start repaying your loan only once you are employed and earning more than R30 000 per year. The period allowed for repayments varies according to individual circumstances. Special legislation allows NSFAS to require employers to deduct loan repayments from the wages or salaries of borrowers.

NSFAS rewards students who succeed academically. Academic results are used to calculate rebates. If you pass all your courses in any one year, 40% of your annual loan will converted to a bursary. (A bursary, as defined in the Act No.56, 1999, is part of the loan which you do not have to pay back.) This means you need to repay only 60% of your loan (plus interest) for that year! A student who passes half his/her courses will qualify for a 20% rebate.

If you graduate within the minimum number of years required, you will have saved 40% of your loan each year, and you will owe far less than someone who takes longer to complete their degree.

By repaying your NSFAS loan as quickly as possible, you will increase the funds available in the NSFAS scheme and thus the amount of money available to assist future generations of students who need financial assistance to study.

www.nsfas.org.za/

Wits offers scholarships and merit awards to academically exceptional students. There is normally no requirement to repay a scholarship or merit award at the end of your studies. However, if you do not complete your course or if you fail, you may be liable for monies paid on your behalf.

Foreign Results

South African students who have completed a foreign qualification such as A level, AS level, IB and German Abitur, may be eligible for recognition of distinctions achieved in these qualifications. The award will be up to a maximum of R30 000 only. Academically excellent applicants with foreign school leaving qualifications may apply on an ad hoc basis.

Conditions apply, which include:

Scholarship students are still eligible for NSFAS funding (the difference between the scholarship and the cost of being at University may be covered by NSFAS).

Students who took a gap year (not longer than a year), may be eligible for a University Entrance Scholarship. Please advise the Financial Aid and Scholarships Office once you register, as the scholarship will not be automatically recorded on the student system. The scholarship is applicable for the year of registration.

The student should provide the University's Financial Aid and Scholarships Office with any official remarked results issued by the examination authority that may impact on the amount of the scholarship by 30 September of the same year for which the scholarship has been awarded.

Sports Scholarships

If you have competed in top level sport, represented your province or South Africa and you display the appropriate academic potential, you may be eligible for a Wits Sport Bursary. Terms and conditions are outlined in the sport bursary application form which can be downloaded from www.wits.ac.za/sport/ sports-bursaries/

Applications must be received by the end of August. Queries may be directed to: bursaries.witssport@wits.ac.za
